

5 Reasons We Should Stop Giving Reviews And Start Managing People

Writing and delivering annual reviews is challenging for both managers and employees; taking up a lot of time and not always delivering the kind of actionable feedback that will help employees grow.

Here are our top 5 reasons you should stop giving annual performance reviews, and adopt true performance management instead.