

Automated External Defibrillator (AED) Equipment Re-Stocking Form

It's important to replace AED equipment immediately after each use so that the device is ready for effective use without delay the next time you need it. Putting off replacement until later may result in having to track down missing items during an actual AED incident, which will waste precious time that could spell the difference between whether the victim lives or dies. Here's a template form you can adapt to ensure effective re-stocking.
