

Can the employer in a manufacturing plant prohibit speaking another language on the production floor while working and implement a policy that English is the only spoken language in the plant? Can this policy be made that while the employee is on the company premises, the only spoken language is English?

written by hri_Admin | February 12, 2019