

Company files

written by Conner Lantz | December 4, 2018

I recently terminated an employee with cause. They are now asking for their complete company file. Am I obligated to send them everything in their file. Most importantly their disciplinary portion. This employees has received all disciplinary paperwork already at the time of their disciplinary meetings.