

DUI

written by hri_Admin | January 11, 2019

with the new drinking laws coming into effect, if an employee receives a DUI I have two questions 1) do they have to inform their employer if it does not impact their ability to do their job?, and 2) If it does impact their ability to do their job , other than reasonable accomodations, what is the employer obligated to provide?