

Electronic Signatures

written by hri_Admin | April 10, 2018

Have there been any updates in employment law regarding presenting documents with electronic signatures, or scanned/soft copy versions of documents in court? For example, it was advised previously that for just cause terminations, employers should keep original hard copy documents with signatures as scanned/soft copy versions would not be acceptable to support the case in court.