Ending Spreadsheet Chaos

The challenges of today's volatile business world leave HR professionals scrambling to find enough time in their days to respond to the needs of employees, managers and the ever-growing HR workload. Then there's the issue of taking a seat at the strategic table. That demands accurate data at your fingertips and the ability to demonstrate how talent-related information translates into business results. Innovative web-based HR information systems make it both possible and affordable for even small and mid-sized HR functions to eliminate the chaos of paper or spreadsheets and flex their strategic-partner muscles.

Article by Bamboo HR