

ENMAX

ENMAX Corporation is a vertically integrated utility that generates and distributes electricity, natural gas, renewable energy and value-added services to customers in Alberta, Canada.

Tamar Cain, (HR Business Partner) – Explained that as part of her job role; she is able to use HRInsider to provide the business with interpretations of HR Policies and procedures to provide solutions and advice to customers. She purchased HRInsider because she found the free trials useful as it always provided her with better clarification and information she needed. It took away the time and effort of having to carry out the research and had all the resources she needed. Tamar had been doing some research on Termination and found HR articles useful on the subject matter.

Tamar also commented that a lot of the information received was out of US and specific to certain provinces in Canada. She looks forward to more interesting articles in future.