

Hiring Temporary Employees Policy

Temporarily vacant positions can arise when an employee takes a leave of absence (e.g. parental leave). During this time the organization must fill the position until the employee is scheduled to return.

Policies define a temporarily vacant position and provide guidelines on how it will be filled and the duration (e.g., internal transfer or temporary external hire).