This week in the first LIVE show of 2014 hosts Steve Boese and Trish McFarlane are excited to bring Sean Conrad, Senior Product Analyst & Sales Trainer at Halogen Software back to the show this week. Sean and Halogen are both big supporters of the HR Happy Hour and we feel equally strong about what Halogen Software has added to the industry over the years. This week, we plan to talk about ways that organizations can improve their communication, collaboration and coaching techniques.

Halogen recently launched two new modules to address these needs. Their new 1:1 Exchange meeting module and the Halogen Myers-Briggs module introduce innovative approaches to workforce improvements. Listen in as we talk about the modules as well as other ways organizations can approach these challenges.

Sean is a interesting and fun guy and it should be a great show – make your plans to join us LIVE on Thursday or catch the replay anytime from the show page here or using iTunes or on Stitcher Radio on Android devices.
