

HR Records Retention & Destruction Policy

It's important to create and implement a policy to ensure that you retain your HR records for as long as employment standards and other laws require and dispose of them in accordance with personal information and data protection laws after the retention period expires.