Optimize Your Workforce Planning

Workforce planning is all about balancing the optimum supply of workers to the demands of workload in the most effective way. However, managing and tracking employee absenteeism is an integral part of workforce planning that can directly affect an organization’s retention, productivity and bottom line.