

Reprisals Complaint Response Questionnaire

written by Tina Tsonis | January 26, 2022

A prompt and effective response is vital when employees file a complaint accusing your company of retaliation or taking reprisals against them for engaging in protected activity. The first step is to do an internal investigation to determine whether they have a valid claim. The findings of this inquiry will dictate your defence/settlement strategy. Here's a Questionnaire you can use to organize your own investigation.