

Reward and Recognition Programs

Letting employees know how they are doing at work can make them feel valued and secure. Do incentive plans measurably and positively influence employee behavior? While many in business assume it's conventional wisdom that incentive plans have a meaningful impact, some assert otherwise.