

Succession Planning: Retaining skills and knowledge in your workforce

In this publication by the Government of Alberta, employers find practical advice to help identify and develop internal talent and prevent the loss of important knowledge from their organizations.