

The New Actuarial Study

Highlights of a new actuarial study analyzing CPP mortality, disability and retirement rates over the past two decades:

- Life expectancy at age 65 for retirement beneficiaries up 2.5 years to 20.5 years
- Beneficiaries with higher pensions experience higher mortality gains
- Survivor beneficiaries have higher mortality rates than general population
- Disability beneficiaries also have higher mortality rates that vary depending on disability.