

Unpaid Internship Policy

How to Use This Tool

Internships and voluntary employment is not a break from normal employment regulation. Interns have clear rights that you must recognize and respect, including in most cases the right to be paid at least minimum wages. So make sure you implement a clearly worded and specific policy setting out interns' rights and obligations. This policy is based on Ontario law. If you're not in Ontario, you'll need to adapt it to ensure compliance with the employment standards and OHS requirements of your own jurisdiction—particularly Section 3, the provisions regarding compensation.

UNPAID INTERNSHIP POLICY (ONTARIO VERSION)

1. POLICY

ABC Company believes in the value of offering educational internships to students and others who can benefit from the opportunity to learn about ABC Company's business and gain valuable insight and experience.

2. PURPOSE

The purpose of this Policy is to define the terms and conditions of ABC Company internship arrangements and the rights and responsibilities of the parties involved in those arrangements.

3. COMPENSATION

a) Interns as Employees: In accordance with the Ontario Employment Standards Act (ESA), interns shall be considered employees who are entitled to be paid at least the minimum wage and provided the minimum overtime, vacation and other rights guaranteed by the ESA.

b) Exceptions: Notwithstanding Section 3(a) above, interns may not be deemed employees under the ESA and thus may be hired on an unpaid basis and without the ESA benefits guaranteed to employees if they qualify for one of the following three exemptions:

- i. The student exemption applies to students working as a part of a program approved by a secondary school board, college of applied arts and technology or university, including co-ops, internships and other experiential learning placements approved by high schools, colleges of arts and technology and universities.
- ii. The professional exemption applies to professionals and students training to join those professions.

The trainee exemption applies to persons receiving training from ABC Company, provided that ALL of the following conditions are met: (1) The training is similar to that provided in a vocational school. (2) The training is for the benefit of the intern. (3) ABC Company employer derives little, if any, benefit from the activity of the intern while he or she is being trained. (4) The intern's training doesn't take someone else's job. (5) The intern is not promised a job with ABC Company at the end of his/her training. (6) ABC Company tells the intern that he/she will not be paid.

4. UNPAID INTERNSHIP AGREEMENTS
