

Workplace Violence Prevention Program

Under OHS laws, employers must provide a safe environment for workers to work in and protect workers from violence. This Model, can be adapted for use in your organization to help workers understand how committed their place of work is to protecting workers from violence.